

THE FACE OF A TRAITOR

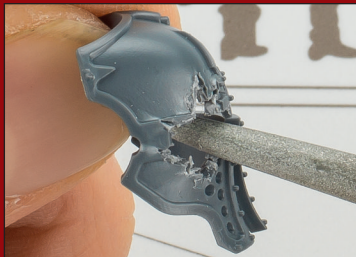

The Renegade Knight the Litany of Destruction wears a ruined helm, the visor smashed to reveal one of the suit's eyes – a suitably sinister conversion for a Renegade. This conversion was done by taking the original visor (1) and clipping away parts with a pair of Fine Detail Cutters, starting at the horizontal vision slit and working outwards (2). A file was then used to gently clean up any jagged edges (3). Once you've clipped away a bit of the helm, test fit it to the head to see that it looks right (4). The good news is that there are two of these helms in the Imperial Knights: Renegade box, so you've got a spare if it goes wrong!

1

2

3

4